MEASURES FOR SUPPRESSING LEPROSY.

In resuming the subject of yesterday's leading article, we suggest the adoption of the following measures, for the suppression of leprosy and for the benefit of the unfortunate lepers:

First,-The prompt removal to Moloka ef a considerable number of confirmed and hopeless cases now confined in the branch hospital at Kakaako. These people are not suitable subjects for the latter institution, and should not be allowed to cumber the wards, while hundreds of lepers are at large outside, many of whom if placed in the hospital, might be favorable cases for treatment.

Second,-The enlargement of the accommodations within the present hospital enclosure, by the erection of additional buildings, so that at least two hundred patients could be comfortably accommodated therein. We say the present hospital enclosure, assuming that it must remain where it now is.

Third,-The arrest and segregation, as fast as prudence and humanity will allow, of all the lepers now at large: the advanced cases to be sent direct to Molokai, and those in the incipient stages or concerning whom there is any doubt, to be detained in the branch hospital for observation and treatment. Were the lepers now at large once collected and disposed of, with tolerable thoroughness, and the matter systematically followed up, the branch hospital with accommodations for two hundred patients is all that would be required for those in what may be called the stage of probation, at any one time.

Fourth,-The improvement of the accommodations and administration at Kalawao, so that the settlement should, as far as possible, be made to appear to the native mind as a place of refuge and comfort, rather than one of exile and death. For this purpose it is necessary that there should be a much larger amount of direct personal supervision from some competent head, than is possible under the present arrangement. Systematic medication and remedial measures of various kinds should be freely furnished to all who are willing, or who can be induced, to accept them. Aside from any treatment directed to the cure or amelioration of leprosy, it is evalent that such an aggregation of diseased humanity requires the constant presence of an intelligent and well-organized medical service, for the relief of their various incidental ailments. Unquestionably the best, and in fact the only way of satisfying these requirements is by the appointment of a resident medical superintendent, with ample powers and liberal pay, to reside constantly at the settlement. The presence and supervision of such an official, enjoying the confidence of the Government on the one hand and the good will of the patients on the other, would secure the adoption of many improvements and reforms in matters of detail not strictly medical.

Our limited space will not admit of our going more into detail, at present. We feel sure that the foregoing ideas are sound, and that they cannot fail to secure the approval of all persons who will give the subject their serious and candid consideration. .

FIRST STEPS.

Yesterday afternoon quite a crowd had assembled in front of the Police Station. Going in to inquire the reason we found the police had brought in about 15 lepers, who were being examined by Drs. Mc-

Kibbin, Trousseau and Fitch. Every one seemed to us as repulsive as the worst cases at Kakaako. The police were then out engaged in bringing more. It is creditable that action has at last been taken by the Board of Health, but we think that the number they have obtained so far is one-tenth part of those still at

Now that they have got these lepers, it would be well to re consider the present system, and begin a fresh record of sensible and vigorous administration with the new year.

FORT STREET SOCIAL.

On Thursday night a very pleasant entertainment was given in the parlors of Fort Street Church. A melange of music and elecution preceded a conversazione with coffee. The proceedings were opened by a reading, Dora, by Mr. Cruzan which was full of tender pathos. Then the new piano was tried by Miss Austin, who played a Sonata, by Carl Reinecke of the audience. Mrs. Adams then enchained the attention of all by her charming reading of the thrilling poem of "St. Michael's Saved," which details the account of a brave deed by a slave. Mrs. Hanford next sat down to the piano and sang "The Village Blacksmith's Bride," a tuneful and tender lyric. Mrs. W. Hopper was next introduced to the audience. Mrs. Hopper is new to Honolulu, but her recitation of "Christmas Night at the Quarters," a descriptive piece of negro characteristics at Christmas, established her as a favorite. The applause was long and loud and the memory of the old fiddler Josie will last for a long time. Mrs. W. Peterson then played a Polacca which set many feet to tapping, and wishing to be moving. Mis Prescott our talented elocutionist then read the "Burial of Moses." This was the finest piece of elocution of the evening. Then followed a violin and piano duet by Mrs. Hanford and Prof. Yarndley, which was an exquisite gem to the hearers. The way in which the double notes were produced was particularly fine as except by ocular demonstration, it was impossible to tell whether two violins or one were being played. After this came the coffee and cakes and the general talk which usually

The attendance was large and the decorations were beautiful in their simplicity. Mrs. W. W. Hall presided assisted by the other ladies of the Benevolent Society.

A COUNTERFEIT dollar was shown us yesterday by a business man who had just had it passed on him accidentally with a number of other good ones. It is an exact fac-simile of the U.S. dollar of 1880 in appearance. It rings well, but is extraordinarily light. It is made of some grayish metal, or compound, and plated with a light silvery looking metal. This plating was peeling off the one shown to us, so that the fraud was easily detected. The public should examine all money received carefully.
